Directions (Question Nos. 71 to 75) : Read the following passage carefully and attempt questions by choosing the most appropriate option :

Nationalism, of course, is a curious phenomenon which at a certain stage in a country's history gives life, growth and unity but, at the same time, it has a tendency to limit one, because one thinks of one's country as something different from the rest of world. One's perspectives changes and one is continuously thinking of one's own struggles, virtues and failing to the exclusion of other thoughts. The result is that the same nationalism which is the symbol of growth for the people becomes a symbol of the cessation of that growth in mind. Nationalism, when it becomes successful sometimes goes on spreading in an aggressive way and becomes a danger internationally. Whatever, line of thought you follow, you arrive at the conclusion that some kind of balance must be found. Otherwise something that was good can turn into evil. Culture, which is essentially good, becomes not only static but aggressive and something that breeds conflict and hatred when looked at from wrong point of view. How do you find a balance. I don't know. Apart from the political and economical problems of the age, perhaps, that is the greatest problem today because behind it there is tremendous search for something which it cannot find. We turn to economic theories because they have an undoubted importance. It is folly to talk of culture or even of God, when human beings starve and die. Before one can talk of anything else one must provide the normal essentials of life to human beings. That is where economies come in. Human beings today are not in a mood to tolerate this suffering, starvation and inequality when they see that the burden is not equally shared. Others profit while they only bear the burden.

71. The greatest problem in the middle of the passage refers to the question..

Directions (Question Nos. 76 to 80) : Read the following passage carefully and attempt questions by choosing the most appropriate option :

A close look at the facts relating nexus to political interference in administration shows that it is not a one way process. There is often a nexus between power-hungry corrupt politicians and civil servants with convenient principles. Many civil servants are only too anxious to oblige the politicians, and then cash the obligation when they need some special favour. So the attitude of righteousness adopted by the civil servants is sometimes only a way of covering their own flaws by blaming others. Every now and then some civil servants come out with their memoirs suggesting political interference. It is not usual for the self-styled hero to blame not only interfering politicians but also fellow civil servants for their failures if any. This attitude of smug self-satisfaction is, unfortunately developed during the years of service. Self-preservation is encouraged by our whole system of rules and procedures.

76. The passage suggests that :
- (A) There is no political interference in the functioning of the civil servants.
  - (B) All civil servants succumb to political pressure.
  - (C) Some civil servants compromise with their integrity while obliging the politicians.
  - (D) All politicians are corrupt.

- (A) A camouflage
  - (B) Misdemeanor
  - (C) An act of transgression
  - (D) An act of aggression
78. The existing system of administration seems to encourage civil servants :
- (A) To become Godfather
  - (B) To praise the politicians
  - (C) To become self-centred and concerned about their gain.
  - (D) To become self-righteous
